NEWS FROM THE SOUTH.

The Northern papers contain the following extracts from late Southern papers:

"Gen. Lee has assumed the chief command of the armies of the Confederacy, and has issued a military order, in which, after expressing his belief that the soldiers now in active service, require no exhortation to respond to the calls of honor and of duty, he offers a free pardon to all absentees and deserters who shall return to the commands to which they belong, within twenty days from the date of the publication of the order in the Department in which they may be. All who refuse to respond to the order, or who shall hereafter desert or absent themselves without leave, are to suffer such punishment as the Courts may decree, and no hope of clemency in the future is to be entertained. The order closes by declaring that the resources of the South, if fitly and vigorously employed, are ample, and that if the armies in the field are sustained by unity and determination among the people, success cannot be doubtful.

The Richmond Sentinel publishes an address to the people of South Carolina by Gov. Magrath, calling the entire population to arms to resist the advance of Gen. Sherman.

A heavy fire occurred at Danville, Va., on Wednesday week. The estimated loss exceeds two million dollars.

General Braxton Bragg is at present in Richmond.

Gen. Wade Hampton, with his cavalry, from Lee's army, is in South Carolina, and appeals to the people of Georgia and South Carolina to furnish horses for his men.

The house of the late John C. Calhoun, in South Carolina, where he was born, was burned lately. It is said the fire was accidental.

Some years ago many of the farmers in Wisconsin were induced to mortgage their farms to pay for stocks in certain railroads. When the mortgages fell due, the farmers were unable to redeem. Then the cry was set up that these loans were wrongfully obtained. Foreclosure was resisted through the courts, but without avail, as the mortgages were held to be valid. Thereupon, threats of violence were made, and conspiracies set on foot to resist by force attempts to sell under the mortgage deeds. Recently, a sale has been ordered to take place at Berlin, and these threats have been renewed. In consequence, Governor Lewis has issued a proclamation denouncing these demonstrations, and warning the conspirators against the execution of their illegal designs.

All living things need encouragement.—"Kind words" make our sufferings less; encouraging words give us energy, hope, and confidence.
